Morrison Cohen LLP Announces Anthony M. Saur Joins Firm as Partner New Associate Joins Firm

New York, January 25, 2016 – Morrison Cohen LLP announced today that Anthony Saur has joined the firm as a partner in the firm’s Corporate Department.

Anthony has a broad range of experience in venture capital, mergers and acquisitions, corporate governance and compliance, and capital markets transactions, with a particular focus on technology, biotech and other emerging-company fields.

His general corporate practice includes representing issuers and investment funds in venture capital debt and equity deals and representing clients ranging from early-stage start-ups to mature multinational corporations in domestic and cross-border acquisitions and dispositions, including mergers and asset and stock acquisitions.

Before joining Morrison Cohen, Saur was a partner in the corporate practice group at Venable LLP.

“Anthony is recognized in the market for his capabilities in advising technology-focused companies in connection with their financing and transactional needs. His experience in this space will provide further depth to our Corporate Department in the tech and VC areas,” Morrison Cohen Chairman David Scherl said. “We are all looking forward to another important lateral addition to our partnership”

Morrison Cohen also has added an associate – continuing the firm’s tradition of hiring highly skilled lawyers from some its largest and most respected competitors.

“We continue to be successful in attracting the absolute top talent as they are drawn to our model, culture and commercial approach to our practice,” Scherl said.

The firm welcomes the following new associate:
